

Mrs. Wilson Fixes Savory Meat Dishes

Wise Pennsylvania Dutch Woman Tells Her by Series of Recipes How She Makes Food Interesting

By MRS. M. A. WILSON

CHILLY fall days and cold weather in the office makes the family usually yearn for toothsome, savory meat dishes. The light meat portions of the summer season seem inadequate and fall to satisfy.

I have gathered a few recipes from the Pennsylvania Dutch housewife who has a large family and must needs give them something nourishing.

Mrs. Pfeiffer's Pork Chop

Allow one good-sized pork chop for each person. Place two packages of noodles to cook in large saucepan of boiling water for twenty minutes; drain; chop fine:

Four onions.
Four branches of parsley.
Two branches of celery.

Place one-fourth pound of salt pork minced fine in skillet and cook gently; add the herbs and simmer until tender, without water. Now add:

One cup of thick tomato pulp.
The nicely browned pork chops and three cups of gravy made in the pan after browning the pork chop.

Sprinkle over two teaspoons of salt.

One teaspoon of pepper.
Four tablespoons of vinegar.

Three-quarters cup of thick sour cream.

Blend by tossing with spoon and cook slowly for ten minutes. Serve; garnish with finely chopped parsley.

Savory Sausage Balls

Place in mixing bowl:

One pound of country sausage meat.
One and one-half cups of mashed potatoes.

One and one-quarter cups of fine bread crumbs.

One well-beaten egg, adding three tablespoons of sour cream or sweet milk.

One teaspoon of salt.
One-half cup of chopped onions.

Mix well and form in balls about size used for hamburger steaks; dip in flour and brown in hot fat in the skillet; lift on plate. Make three cups of brown gravy in skillet after trying the sausage balls and then add:

One pint jar of canned tomatoes.
Two cups of finely chopped celery.
One cup of diced, cooked beets.

One cup of diced, cooked carrots.
One teaspoon of poultry seasoning.
Two teaspoons of salt.
One teaspoon of pepper.

Blend well and add one cup of sour cream; bring to boiling point; cook for three minutes, then add the sausage balls; cover closely and simmer slowly for thirty minutes. Lift each ball on slice of toast, pour over a part of the gravy, garnish and serve.

Liver With Egg Dumplings

Wipe one pound of beef liver, which has been sliced in thin slices, with damp cloth. Roll at once in flour. Place three-fourths cup of either sausage or bacon drippings in skillet and when hot fry the liver, brown well on both sides. Then add one-half cup of flour to the skillet after the liver is nicely browned, blend in flour well and then add:

Three cups of cold water.

Bring to boiling point and add:

Eight medium-size onions cut in thick slices.

Cover and simmer for thirty-five minutes. While the liver is cooking, place in mixing bowl:

One and one-half cups of mashed potatoes.
One and one-quarter cups of flour.
One cup of bread crumbs.
One teaspoon of pepper.
One teaspoon of salt.
Two onions, grated.
One-half cup of finely minced parsley.

Two tablespoons of melted butter.
Two well-beaten eggs.

Work to smooth mass and then flour the hands and form in balls the size of a large egg. Drop in large saucepan containing two quarts of boiling water. Cook for fifteen minutes. Lift with skimmer to hot dish and sprinkle with grated cheese. Lift the prepared liver to the center, season the gravy well, and pour over the liver. Garnish with finely chopped parsley.

The Woman's Exchange

To "Mrs. D."

There have been a number of letters asking for your address in reference to your recipe for some one to take care of your children at night. The address was not kept. If you will send it in the letter will be forwarded to you so that you can decide about interviewing the writers.

To Remove Ink Stain

To the Editor of Woman's Page:

Dear Madam—Will you please tell me what will take ink spots out of crocheted lace I have on a table cover? Some say sour milk will take it out, but I have tried it and it won't come out. What stain will come out with sour milk?

MRS. J. P.

The regular ink eradicators that are sold in the shops are best for taking out this stain. They nearly always work, at least fading the stain if they do not remove it altogether.

Has Bleached Her Hair Too Much

To the Editor of Woman's Page:

Dear Madam—My trouble is this: I have been using peroxide to rinse my hair for the last year and my hair is now the desired shade. Recently it has been falling out and is full of dandruff. Would you please advise me what to do to keep my hair the same shade as it is, but fear losing it, as it is falling rapidly and seems much thinner. Could you tell me of any kind of herb that would produce almost the same effect in color as peroxide, but which would not cause the hair to fall?

BLONDIE

You had better stop the peroxide at once and begin using a tonic or liquid vaseline. This will give your hair the life and help that it needs. The constant use of the peroxide would undoubtedly affect the hair, as it tends to dry it out. It will be much better for you to let it get dark again and keep it in good condition and health than to go on bleaching it and lose it. I cannot recommend anything to bleach the hair.

Being a Grown-Up

The bertha is another feature of grown up dressing borrowed by the youngster, and on her afternoon dress of velvet or silk she who is from four to fifteen may rejoice in one of these neck finishes.

The dress of rose-colored velvet, scalloped around the edge, and having a deep bertha of silver lace, is an exquisite example, although she must be at least fifteen to attempt this.
